

About Our Team

Critical care physicians work with patients who need the highest level of critical care during their hospital stay. These specialty physicians spend all of their clinical time in the intensive care unit (ICU). Critical care physicians do not see patients outside the ICU hospital setting.

Skilled in the diagnosis and treatment of critical illnesses or injuries, all Grand View critical care medicine physicians are board-certified in either internal medicine or emergency medicine and have completed fellowships in critical care. In addition to treating seriously ill patients in the ICU, our physicians partner with related medical providers and support staff to coordinate the patient's medical needs as they transition into additional areas of the healthcare system.

Our Services

- Oversee patient care in the ICU
- Collaborate with related medical providers to coordinate patient's medical needs
- Critical care physicians see only hospitalized patients and do not have outpatient medical offices
